CITIZENS CELEBRATE! AUTUMNAL AWARENESS ARRIVES

Indeed, fellow Buena Vistans, the harvest moon is upon us! And as branches become craggy claws, foreboding fog thickens, and the night air begins to nip at the hair on the back of your necks, the local children will be dreaming up frightfully fun costumes and salivating over dreams of delectable delights. Positively, that latest craze, Halloween, will be here before you can say boo!

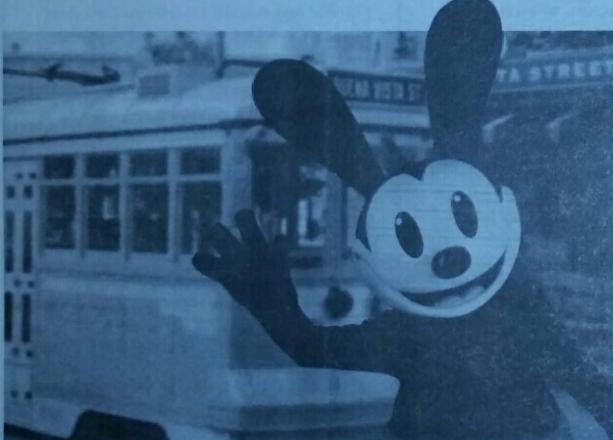

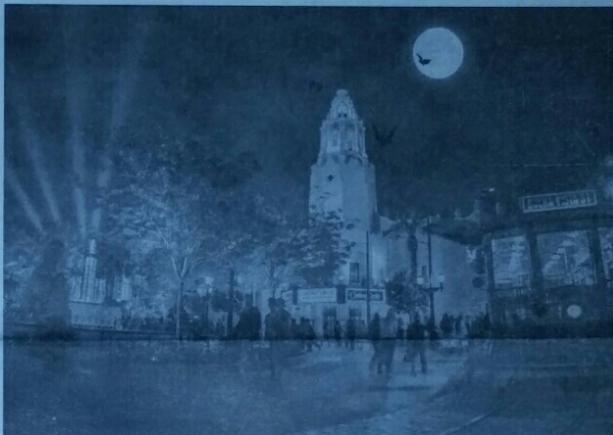

Even the local merchants are getting into the spirit, transforming their traditional shelves with whimsically wicked oranges and blacks. Why, over at the Los Feliz Five & Dime, they're downright dedicated to the day, offering Halloween themed hats and tees for the whole family. That's right, pa, ma, junior, sis, even dear old gramps! And if headwear isn't their fancy, they can even enjoy tails this year! That's right, strap on a Sulley, Marie, Cheshire Cat, or Tigger tail, and you'll be the bee's knee's of Buena Vista Street this fall!

Of course, Elias & Company returns as your stop for their always top notch selection of princess and wicked tees, pants, and scarves to keep the local ladies in high fashion envy.

And what's Halloween without an old-fashioned indulgence or two? Ghastly! Good thing Trolley Treats always brews up something sinistery sweet for the holiday. Get wrapped up in the all new Mickey Mummy cake pop, revisit the classic pumpkin fudge, or try on the Minnie Halloween apple with purple chocolate witch hat for size.

But, whether you're seeking a trick or a treat this holiday season, Buena Vista Street always has an open door to fun and festivity. So knock away, fellow citizens. And let those Halloween spirits rise!

OSWALD AT YOUR SERVICE!

Ding, ding! That's right travelers, Oswald the Lucky Rabbit, has pulled into Buena Vista Street. And unless you're stuck under the hood, you won't want to miss his larger than life presence in the neighborhood near Oswald's Filling Station. See, Oswald just so happens to be a bit of a celebrity in these parts, and he can't seem to get his fill of photographs and autographs with his adoring fans. So if this bumbling bunny gets your motor running, be sure to slow your roll for the full service!

And if you just so happen to need to gear up for the open road, Oswald's is stocked to the hilt with zippy sundries, tee's, ears, and even floppy Oswald ears, all dedicated to our beloved, big carrot!

Be sure to check the Entertainment Times Guide for Oswald's appearances on Buena Vista Street.

NEW TOUR DEPARTING DAILY!

The Buena Vista Street Chamber of Commerce is celebrating its neighborhood's rich history with a nifty new guided tour! "Disney California Story" invites Guests to step back into the Los Angeles that Walt Disney might have seen when he arrived and experience the stories behind the inspirational icons, landmarks, and attractions of Disney California Adventure Park!

Offered at 10 a.m. daily, the dandy tour lasts approximately three hours and includes a special peek into the members only 1901 Lounge, priority access to two popular Disney California Adventure Park attractions, a special Animation Academy experience, a private lunch, and a collectible pin!

For more information, pricing, and booking, call 714-781-TOUR (8687). Entertainment and attractions are subject to change and restrictions apply. Separate Theme Park admission is required.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

While I have celebrated Halloween in its birthplace of Ireland, El Dia de los Muertos in Spain, and even Teng Chieh in China, there is nowhere I'd rather spend the holiday this year than right here on my hometown Buena Vista Street. All of the citizens are so lovely in their own unique ways, and sometimes simply rediscovering the place you're from is the greatest journey of all.

Lovingly,
Phiphi the Photographer

Dear Editor,

My goodness, I have so many packages to deliver this fall. Why there's Halloween and Thanksgiving and of course National Do Something Nice Day. And I'm responsible for everyone getting all of their well wishes. Oh, boy. If I could, I'd just like to apologize in advance to all of the kind citizens out there in case I deliver your beautiful package to the wrong address.

Sincerely,
Molly the Messenger

Dear Editor,

As the Halloween season approaches, I'd just like to extend a friendly neighborhood reminder to everyone to be on their best behavior. To be honest, it gets a little tricky when so many youngsters are dressed up like vampires, werewolves, and Maleficients. But as always, I'll use my best judgment and issue as many good behavior citations as possible.

Officially,
Calvin the Cop

Boo Causing a Scream!

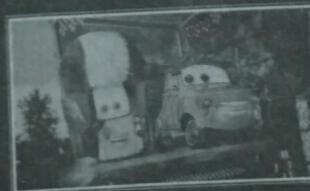

And how! Who's got a better Halloween name than Boo? Grab a cab on "Monsters, Inc. Mike & Sulley to the Rescue" and see her scare the scales off all those slithery slimeballs!

CELEBRITY SIGHTINGS HAPPY HAUNTS

Guido Going Groovy!

Perhaps not the most original costume on the boulevard, but what would a Halloween road rally be without "that guy"? Cruise on by "Radiator Springs Racers" in Cars Land and flash the brights at this far-out forklift!

Art's Acrobatic Antics!

Sure, his scares are still in-training, but what do you want, Randall Boggs? These are happy haunts, dearies! Be sure to catch his furry, flip-flop fun in "Pixar Play Parade!"

"I" on Food, with Inglebert Irving Alfresco Tasting Terrace

Wine has always been a specialty of mine. So many complexities. So many nuances. It requires a truly refined palate to even begin to comprehend it. So, upon hearing the Golden Vine Winery was debuting the Alfresco Tasting Terrace on its, visually stunning, second floor, my olfactory inclinations grew ripe with condescension.

Arriving on the open-air veranda to a magnificent, autumn California sunset, I chose a seat in the corner of the intimate setting to let my ire percolate. Surprised to learn the menu had changed to showcase a series of small plates intended for sharing, I ordered the Aged Cheddar Risotto Bites with Roasted Garlic Herb Aioli and Marinara, as well as the Charcuterie and Cheese Board featuring Gorgonzola Blue Cheese, Fontina, Prosciutto Di Parma, Spanish-style Chorizo, Green Olives, Marinated Mushrooms, Walnuts, and Dry-cured Black Beldi Olives. Naturally, it was a lot of food, but I was here for the tasting, not the gorging, dear readers. I paired the meal with a featured flight of wines, and I began to consume.

Painstakingly careful to prevent the food from influencing the true flavors of the wines, I found myself softening somewhat as I tasted. The wines were multifaceted and thoughtfully selected. The food was like an old friend who knew when to bark and when to bite. A perfectly complimentary companion, and an adventure in every bite. I could no longer fight the fight. My sardonic taste buds gave in, and I began, dare I say, to enjoy myself. I heard the music. Admired the playful couples, families, and friends throughout. And even began to mingle.

And that's when I realized, that was precisely the goal of this establishment. To create a place where people would share their food, their drinks, and their lives in a celebration of life. I had succumbed. And I didn't mind one bit.

Needless to say, I give the Alfresco Tasting Terrace my highest recommendation and suggest a visit right away.

Inglebert also recommends:

- Anti-Vampire Chicken Pizza with Roasted Garlic Sauce, marinated chicken, smoked Gouda, Mozzarella, roasted red peppers, Harissa tomato drizzle and scallion garnish at Boardwalk Pizza & Pasta.

- Caramel Apple Smoothie with Real Apple, Caramel and Ice Cream blended in this sweet and tangy fall creation at Schmoozies.

- Starbucks flavors for Fall, Salted Caramel Mocha and Pumpkin Spice Latte paired with a Vampire Mickey Bat Cookie at Fiddler, Fifer & Practical Café.

- Your choice of Beef Burger or Grilled Chicken served with a "Cobweb Style" topping of Swiss Cheese, Grilled Onions, and Mushrooms at Taste Pilot's Grill.

Another Checkered Flag for Flo's V8 Café!

When you are ready to fire up, pull into Flo's for the "Buena Fuel in all 94 states!" His recommends the all-new Ceramic-Cream Flo-o-Ranch. Yes, this perfectly creamy, creamy, coconut-filled delight is headed to the finish line to win the neighborhood's top prize for excellence! So drive on by and experience it for yourself!

In fact, Flo's has given its critics more a full-service menu this season, and most fast-foodies would agree it's tasting cleaner than ever before. With new items like the BBQ Pork Ribs with House-made Coca-Cola BBQ Sauce, the Spin-Fry Rotisserie 'n' Chicken, the Roast Beef & Cheddar Sandwich and the Turkey Dip on a Potato Chipotle Roll with Provolone Cheese and Turkey Au Jus, weary travelers are flocking to the Route 66 most honest like never before. Naturally, classics like the Veggie Tater Bake, Citrus Turkey Salad, and all the old-fashioned shakes made the grade and are available for your enjoyment.

Flo's V8 Café, located in the heart of Radiator Springs, boasts the finest view of Ornament Valley and is open for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Ramone's Inspires a Generation of Style!

Frontispiece. Air brushing. Neon palates. No, these aren't the finer details of deer of Daffy's suburban station wagon. They are, however, the latest craze among a generation of younger, hipper matrons, looking to pave their own roads in life. And who better than to bring it to you than the creator of many of these trends, Ramone himself. That's right, that Picasso of paint and magician of metal has opened Ramone's House of Body Art right here in Radiator Springs, hoping to attract a sense of style in even the most mundane motorists. So don't be shy, cruise on by, and let Ramone find you a better you.

And if body art isn't your speed, Ramone's is stocked fresh with slick graphic tees, hats, and sweatshirts, all inspired by the world of Cars Land, and designed for you to hit the highway in style.

Ramone's House of Body Art is located at the four corners intersection of town at Route 66 and Cross Street in Cars Land.

It's Baaaaack!

That's right, you wacky weird and wicked, the rabbit hole has reopened this fall, and the Mad T Party is once again calling all visitors to pack the night away. And this time, the Hollywood Backlot has undergone a bit of a macabre metamorphosis. Monstrous spider webs, eerie fog, haunting candles, even the band has undergone an uncanny transformation, all in the celebration of Halloween! And of course, all your familiar freaks and friends, including Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum, will be there, anxiously awaiting your participation in the most terrifying T-Tone yet!

This frighteningly fun edition of the Mad T Party begins September 12th and continues every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday night through the month of October. Be sure to check the Entertainment Times Guide for specific dates and times.

Fall's Top Fall!

Thrill-seekers and ghost hunters unite! Halloween just so happens to be the day the mysterious lightning bolt struck the Hollywood Tower Hotel. October 31, 1929 to be precise, and there's no better way to celebrate the shocking anniversary than a return visit this time of year. Indeed, The Twilight Zone Tower of Terror™ provides a thrill soously anticipated, so utterly unexpected, that no fall short of Niagara can hold a candle to its gory, bone-chilling power. Sure, one could consider the incredible falls provided by California Screamin' and Grizzly River Run. But during this spooky season? With the missing hotel patrons appearing at large? Trust us on this one and drop on by. You don't want to be the one getting the shaft. Or do you?

Oh, and should you happen to survive the Fall's top fall, Tower Hotel Gifts will be electrified to greet you with their popular art deco merchandise, delectable treats, and whimsical merchandise inspired by "Tim Burton's The Nightmare Before Christmas", featuring Jack Skellington plush, clothing, mugs, and more.

The Twilight Zone Tower of Terror™ and Tower Hotel Gifts are located on the south side of Hollywood Land, near the Hypnotic Theater.

The Twilight Zone is a registered trademark of CBS, Inc. and used with permission pursuant to a license with CBS, Inc.
